

Firebird Crabapple

(Malus 'Firebird')

Mature Height: 6'-8'

Mature Spread: 8'-12'

Growth Rate: Slow

Flower: white

Fall color: Yellow

USDA Hardiness zone: 4-7

Firebird crabapple is a dwarf variety of Sargent crabapple that is upright when young, then develops a more broad and spreading crown that can provide shade for plants that prefer less sun around its base. The profuse, white flowers are beautiful in the spring, and the small, red fruits persist on the branches well into the winter providing food for wildlife for a long period of time. They are highly resistant to apple scab and fireblight.
