

Ironwood

(Parrotia persica)

Mature Height: 20'-40'

Mature Spread: 20'-30'

Growth Rate: Slow-Moderate

Fall Color: Orange, Red

Flower color: Red

This hardy ornamental has large, glossy green leaves in the summer with orange and red color in the fall. As the tree matures, its bark exfoliates, exposing patches of white and green to increase winter interest. Its size also makes it a great shade tree for small yards. It is tolerant of most soil types and air pollution, making it an excellent urban tree. It has no serious disease or insect problems, so is a very low maintenance plant. Its sturdy branching is resistant to storm damage.
