

Moonglow Juniper

(Juniperus scopulorum
'Moonglow')

Mature Height: 10'-15'

Mature Spread: 4'-6'

Growth Rate: Moderate

Moonglow Juniper has a silvery-blue foliage that stands out in the landscape. It maintains this coloring well through the winter with little browning that many junipers experience. It has a pyramidal shape that requires very little maintenance. It is tolerant of poor soils and will actually perform best in acidic, sandy soils. It does not tolerate standing water, but is drought resistant and is a great choice for water-conserving plantings. It prefers full sun, but will tolerate a limited amount of shade. The Moonglow's upright shape and average size allows it to be an ideal screening plant. It is not often browsed by wildlife so can do well where there is a high deer population. Its brilliant coloration also makes it an excellent accent plant.
