

Northern Catalpa

(Catalpa speciosa)

Mature Height: 40'-70'

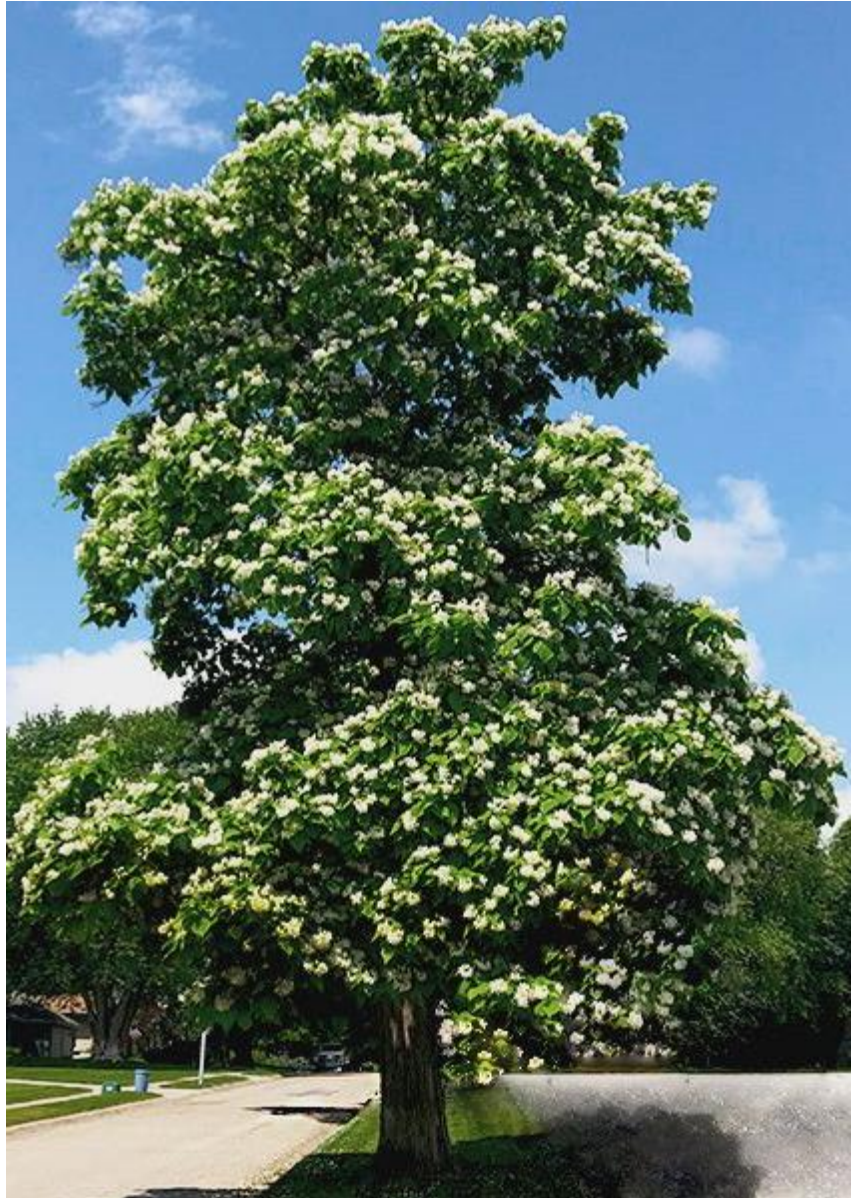

Mature Spread: 25'-45'

Growth Rate: Fast

Flower: White

Fruit: Long, green seedpods that look like vanilla pods

Catalpa is a large, native tree that grows well in most soil types and can even handle seasonal flooding. Its size makes it an excellent shade tree for larger yards. It can tolerate both wet and drought conditions. It has a beautiful white bloom in the spring and early summer. Its irregular shape makes each tree its own unique specimen. Catalpa is a great option for areas that are low-lying and may hold water for several days at a time. It has very few disease or insect problems and is highly adaptable.
