

Armstrong Maple

(Acer freemanii 'Armstrong')

Mature Height: 50'-70'

Mature Spread: 10'-15'

Growth Rate: Fast

Fall color: Yellow to orange

Armstrong is another hybrid of silver and red maples. It is seedless like the rest of the hybrid varieties. It is a tight, columnar tree that makes an excellent street or specimen tree. It is adaptable to a wide variety of soils and weather conditions. It will tolerate both wet soils and drought. Fall color varies from yellow to orange to red. It is highly tolerant of urban conditions and is frequently planted as a street planting due to the upright, narrow nature. It is a low-maintenance tree that requires minimal pruning to maintain its shape.
