

Deborah Maple

(Acer platanoides 'Deborah')

Mature Height: 40'-50'

Mature Width: 35'-45'

Growth Rate: Moderate

Fall color: Yellow/orange

Deborah Maple is a beautiful and unique variety of Norway Maple. New leaves come on a bright red and change to dark, glossy green as they mature. The effect of this is that throughout the summer, there are red tips to the branches to contrast with the rest of the landscape. In the fall, the leaves turn yellow-orange to bronze. It is a sturdy tree that withstands strong winds and maintains its shape with little pruning. As with other Norway Maples, the Deborah is considered a "hard maple" that has strong branches and is slower growing than the hybrid maples. This also makes them a longer-lived tree that can easily live 100 years or more.
